

BOUND TO SMOKE THEM OUT

Members of the House Will Not Knowingly Tolerate Bolders.

ANOTHER INVESTIGATION IS ORDERED

Acting of Men Accused of Trying to Marry Their Votes and Influence Will Be Searched Into—What Is Expected.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 17.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—There is to be another investigation.

Several of the members of the house have made up their minds that the charges of bribery and selling offices in connection with the insurance bills are getting altogether too thick, and inasmuch as there are several affidavits in existence regarding the manner in which certain members have approached insurance men and demanded money to influence their action on bills in which the insurance men are interested, it is proposed to turn another committee loose with full power to send for persons and papers.

The bomb was fired just before adjournment this evening, and the resolution calling for the investigation was adopted by a whoop. The committee will probably be appointed tomorrow.

The charge that Sheridan endeavored to hold up a representative of an insurance company will be one of the features investigated, and another to the effect that Kruse, chairman of the insurance committee, demanded money to report favorably on house bill No. 324, anti-police bill, will also be thrown under the microscope of the search light. The story is that Kruse named his price, and the proposition being favorably received, agreed to see that the report was favorable to the passage of the bill. It is further stated that the money was not forthcoming, and an unfavorable report was submitted. Affidavits have been secured that will make some pretty interesting reading when they are given to the public, and will also prove an eye-opener to the investigating committee when it gets down to business.

Held Back by Kruse.
The house committee on cities and towns would have submitted a favorable report on the Omaha charter bill this evening but for one thing, and that was the opposition of Kruse, who is a member of the committee. He suddenly changed an intention to go through the bill very carefully, and instead of doing so, he has been several times interested in paying, Board of Public Works, and things of that kind, the bill must be considered by sections in the committee. This was very much of a disappointment to the Douglas county delegation, the members of which were assured if they could agree upon the measure, the committee would report as requested. The members of the committee were willing to do as had been previously agreed upon, but Kruse was relentless, and the report had to be deferred. That is why nothing was heard in the house on this point tonight before adjournment.

Laid It Against Goss.
As a member of the Douglas delegation, Goss was present this evening. The resolution calling for an investigation on the insurance committee had been prepared before that time, and was even then waiting for introduction, but as it was not publicly heard of until afterward, Kruse assumed to believe that it was introduced for the purpose of driving him into line on the question of the Omaha charter. Some of his friends made assertions of this kind this evening, and this is one of the reasons that they are arguing the Goss should not be allowed to be the chairman of the investigating committee. This appointment is being fought, and a desperate effort is being made to secure "the appointment of a committee that will not go to the bottom of the matters and will return a whitewash report. Kruse holds a conference with Goss at the Lindell this evening to ascertain what the investigating resolution was introduced for the purpose of, and if Goss was placed on the committee he would do his duty without fear or favor, and that if there was anything behind the charges it would be disclosed if it lay within the power of the committee to get at it.

Stenographer Stands Pat.
Ex-Representative Stenographer stands squarely by the statement made in the presence of THE BEE representative regarding the efforts of Sheridan to secure a price on the insurance bill, and publicly asserted the truth of it this evening in the presence of a number of prominent gentlemen. He makes a clear and concise statement of the matter, and a number of his friends have interested themselves in the case, and propose to see it pushed through to the end.

The resolution introduced this afternoon was a resolution to investigate the action of two other bills, Nos. 359 and 469, and there was more skullduggery practiced on the part of the members of the committee, and it is probable that the resolution will be taken up in the morning so as to include all of them.

A little incident that occurred in the cloak room this evening may not be out of place here. Before the adjournment was over, a member of the Omaha club bill, a canvass was made among the members and sixty-seven of them were secured to support the move. Among the number was Kruse, but when the move was made he was the first to raise a point of order, and largely owing to his objection, the effort was abandoned. It is said that Kruse was in the lobby chair when the cloak room when one of the members of the Douglas delegation happened along and proceeded to tell Kruse what he thought of his action.

Kruse stood it for a short time, and when he heard that the move was expressed so to uncomplimentary remarks, he said: "I don't want to see you or talk with you either," was the remark of the Omaha man. "All the trouble with you on that bill was that you were not seen before it came up. If you had been you would not have raised any objection to it."

An action of the house this evening that will be appreciated by the people of the city was the passage of the anti-cigarette bill, that prohibits the manufacture or sale of the noxious goods in this state.

Smiles Are Not So Clear.
The people of the state are taking a hand in the impeachment matter, as is evidenced by the manner in which the letters and telegrams are pouring in upon members of the legislature from the constituents, demanding that they stand up and be counted, and that they do not let themselves be intimidated by the threat of office because of their adherence to the trust offered to them.

The reaction from the distracting excitement of yesterday is already settling in, and an effort is to so settle the confidence of the state house colonists and their gang. The scenery along their route is less

KEATING, Neb., March 17.—[Special to THE BEE.]—J. A. Osborn was thrown from his horse and had his shoulder dislocated, while out hunting Sunday.

Caleb Shreve, who fell from a scaffolding and broke his leg a few weeks ago, will soon be out.

A. A. Christler has invented a process for heating wagon and buggy tires by gasoline before being welded, and has made application for a patent.

Twenty years ago when councilman James Kane was in Lincoln he bought a lot near where the B. & O. R. R. now stands. He had his deed recorded and paid taxes on it for three years. Hard times coming on him he was compelled to allow the taxes to become delinquent. A few days ago he was in Lincoln and remembering about this old lot he went to the recorder's office and found to his surprise and great joy he found that the lot had never been bought in at tax sale and was still in his name. He immediately paid the delinquent taxes and now has a valuable lot free from all incumbrance.

FULL OF YEARS AND HONORS

Jules Ferry, the Celebrated French Statesman, Passes Away.

BRIEF HISTORY OF A REMARKABLE MAN

His Services to His Country and the Part He Took in the Establishment of the Republic—The Closing Scenes.

He Hated England.

LONDON, March 18.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily News writes: "M. Jules Ferry, the celebrated French statesman, is dead. M. Ferry's death was caused by heart disease. The affection of the heart from which he suffered was due to the effects of a bullet striking a rib near the base of the heart at the time he was attacked by Aubertin in 1887. He was seized with spasms early in the morning and despite every effort made by the physicians, who were hastily summoned, the convulsions continued to grow in violence until at eleven o'clock he was found expired in a terribly severe spasm."

Ferry was born April 15, 1832. He studied law and became a journalist. He was elected to the corps legislatif in 1870 and was among the opponents of the war with Prussia. When war was declared he was made a member of the government of the national defense and was appointed secretary of the government. He risked his life to suppress the commune.
